

Terms of Use

Use of Carleton University OnLine (CUOL) materials, whether by Video on Demand (VOD) subscription, Broadcast, Stream, Pay Per Lecture, or by any other method is for personal study only during the academic term that the course is offered.

Copying, modifying or distributing the lectures in any way is prohibited unless written permission is obtained from CUOL and the course instructor. The copyright and intellectual property rights remain that of instructor and Carleton University. Note: Third party material used in CUOL courses are used under permission and Carleton University makes no claim to any of the associated rights (copyright and intellectual).